Sodhana Sanglap 2024: A Colloquium on Language and Literature

"Sodhana Sanglap 2024: A Colloquium on Language and Literature" was held on May 18, 2024. The topic of the colloquium was "Cultivating Ethical Subjectivities: A Nuanced Reading of Ishiguro's Texts." The lecture was delivered by Professor A. Sharadha Allamneni, Dean of International Student Affairs.

The lecture aimed to explore the ways in which Ishiguro's texts, such as "The Remains of the Day" and "Never Let Me Go," reflect on the complexities of human relationships, memory, and morality. By examining the themes and characters in these texts, Professor Allamneni sought to shed light on the ways in which literature can help us understand the importance of cultivating ethical subjectivities and how this can be achieved through a nuanced reading of literary texts.

Through a nuanced reading of Ishiguro's texts, Professor Allamneni demonstrated how literature can serve as a powerful tool for exploring the complexities of human experience. By examining the ways in which characters navigate moral dilemmas and grapple with the consequences of their actions, Professor Allamneni highlighted the importance of cultivating ethical subjectivities in our own lives.

The colloquium brought together scholars and researchers from the English department to engage in a stimulating discussion on such topics. It provided a unique opportunity for participants to engage in a lively discussion with Professor Allamneni, sharing their own perspectives and insights on the topic.

Post-Conference Thanksgiving Event in the Department of EOFL

With the successful completion of the national-level three-day multidisciplinary conference, a thanksgiving event was held in the Department of English and Indian and Other Foreign Languages (EOFL). The event featured the distribution of certificates and mementos to the organizers and co-conveners.

The opening remarks were given by Dr. Mohanacharyalu, Head, EOFL, who congratulated the entire team for their efforts. Following this, Professor Sharada Allamaneni, Dean of International Student Affairs, addressed the gathering saying that teamwork never fails and expressed her hope that similar efforts would be made in future events of the department.

Associate Professor Dr. G. Nageshwarao, Co-convenor-RDLLCC2K24, addressed the faculty members, highlighted the achievements of the team and praised the organizers for their ability to secure substantial sponsorships within a short period of one month. He also said that the conference ran smoothly, with all tasks completed in an organized manner and shared that the resource persons as well as the participants of the conference expressed high regard for the event's execution and professionalism.

Following these speeches, a memento and certificate distribution program was held. The organizers and co-conveners were recognized for their hard work and dedication. The event concluded with everyone feeling a sense of accomplishment, and they celebrated with snacks and refreshments.

The thanksgiving event not only celebrated the success of the conference but also fostered a sense of camaraderie and motivation for future endeavors in the Department of EOFL.
